A covenant not to engage in any other trade, does not prevent a partner, in contemplation of a dissolution, from canvassing for future business. But where there is a covenant not to engage in a particular business, Semble expressio unius est exclusio alterius; and that it is open to him to engage in any other. It seems, that when a partner engages in a separate business in violation of his articles, his partners will be entitled to a share of the profits. J Secus where permission has been given. 4. That neither the said A and B shall, during the continuance of the partnership, directly or indirectly, engage in any trade, manufacture, or business, except upon account and for the benefit of the said partnership.
